

This solar installation has been designed by professionals to provide a ready to use, high-quality home, for a typical homeowner who wants a comfortable life with minimal maintenance and excellent return on investment. Not everyone fits into the typical category, and the professionals who designed these homes will be happy to work with you to modify your newly acquired solar system to provide what you need. Examples of situations that might improve with modification follow:

Electric vehicle charging station is needed.

Homeowner wants additional batteries installed for long periods of storm and clouds.

The professionals who would be pleased to work with you on such a project:

<https://goyellowball.com/>